Ogden Club in for a Busy Session Layton to Vie With Locals Monday

Some session!
Ogden will lock horns with the fast Bountiful club of the Wasatch league at Bountiful Saturday afternoon in the third game of the year. This contest should easily be tucked away, according to Manager Frank Scott, as the "Farmers" have lost all games thus far played. Ogden and Layton are at the top of the ladder with two wins and no defeats.

Sunday afternoon the Ogden aggregation will mix with the fast Western Optical gang of Salt Lake at Lorin Farr park in what should be a classy contest. The Western Opticals have always in past years had a classy aggregation in harness and this year will be no exception. This contest, according to the officials of the Ogden club, will start promptly at 3:30 o'clock.

Monday afternoon, Decoration day, the locals will lock horns with the Layton stars in one of the deciding games of the year in a regular scheduled game. Both Layton and Ogden have some classy ball tossers in harness and the fans who attend this battle should see a thriller. This contest will also be called at 3:30 o'clock.

Since the game of last Sunday several changes have been made in the lineup of the locals.

"Ad" Peterson, star University of Utah athlete, and an Ogden boy, has signed to play the initial sack for the locals which will give the club added strength. Peterson is a snappy player and will be on deck Sunday.

French has been switched from first base to third base and Butterfield has been sent to center field. Owens will hold down the right pasture.

Reardon has been benched, due principally to his weakness with the stick. Miller will do the receiving for the club in future tilts.

In the contest Sunday the two clubs will line up as follows: Ogden—Myers, 1b; Schultz, 2b; French, 3b; Westler, ss; Peterson, 1b; Butterfield, cf; Miller, c; Crossman, rf; Allen, p.

Western Opticals—W. Leonard, ss; Cluff, cf; Calder, 3b; Cowan, 1b; A. Leonard, 2b; Edmonds, c; Busher, 1b; Usher, cf; Fehr, p.

They Call This Girl the Tennis Demoness

Miss E. Colyer is called the "demoness of tennis." She has earned the name by her daring and spectacular form of playing on English courts. She fairly flies through the air in going after the ball. Miss Colyer is one of England's present stars, recently winning her matches at Hurlingham. She will be seen at Wimbledon in June, where the American stars, Mrs. Franklin I. Mallory and Miss Marion Zinderstein, will compete.

WE GEE SAYS
It's easy enough to be cheerful
When everything's going first rate.
But the pitcher worth while
Is the one who can smile
When Joe Johnson steps to the plate.

The caddy looked and looked and looked. And looked and looked and looked. But gosh, he could not find the ball. His customer had hooked.

He looked and looked and rubbed and rubbed. He gazed and peeked and spied. But he could not find the rubber pill. Although he tried and tried.

At last the owner said: "I'll give a quarter for that ball."
"Hurrah! I've got it!" yelled the kid. With no delay at all.

This bit of rhyming tells what a tip will do on a golf course. A tip gets action there—better action even than one gets on a Pullman or in a hotel. But caddy tipping has grown to such proportions on this account that the leading golf officials have undertaken to find ways of solving it—perhaps by abolishing tipping of caddies.

It is fair to think that to abolish tipping is well-nigh impossible. But if it is the best thing to do a sentiment may be credited that will stop the practice.

Golf clubs are doing more and more for the welfare of the caddies. Institutions have grown up around the caddy houses of the country, and there are playground schools and trained leaders to help the boys.

But it is a matter of doubt whether these elaborate systems get as much action out of the boys as the homely treatment of letting them have clubs and play over the course occasionally and giving them tips.

The best treatment for the caddies comes from each individual club member. Boys are imitative. Some golfers who put up money for caddy fare and education set a mighty bad example to the boys when they're on the course. The ethics of scoring, their language, their conduct on the fairways and in the club house count a whole lot more in the uplifting of the caddy than the gymnasium and playground and trained instructor.

JIMMY WILDE WILL RETURN TO ENGLAND

NEW YORK, May 27.—Jimmy Wilde, British lightweight boxing champion, announced tonight that he would sail for England Saturday on the steamship Adriatic. The British boxer said he was pleased with the result of his American tour and wished to thank the American people for the fine way in which he had been treated in the various cities in which he appeared. He said he expected to return to America in the fall, but had not yet made any definite arrangements for bouts.

BRITISH EXPECT TO TRIM YANK GOLFERS

Barnes-Hagan to Represent U. S. English Title Games: Expect Close Play

BY H. SAUNDERS.
(Written for the International News Service and London Daily Express.)

LONDON, May 27.—A new departure, which should not be uninteresting to Walter Hagan of Rochester and J. M. Barnes of Whitehorse, the two American professionals who have decided to compete in the British open golf championship, is that, for the first time in the history of the event, the qualifying rounds will be played on an inland green. It has always been a sin qua non in this country that championship golf, from the first stage to the last, must be played on a seaside links. The fact that St. George's Hill, Westbury, Dorset, which is only about twenty miles from London, has been chosen for this year's qualifying rounds, is a sign that the British authorities are really breaking with the hoary traditions of the past.

It would be difficult to imagine two courses more dissimilar than St. George's Hill, where the competitors will qualify, and Deaf, on the south-east coast, where the final stages will be carried out. St. George's Hill is cut out of some of the most beautiful pine country in Surrey. Trees and tenebrous heather flank the fairway from the first hole to the last. Deaf, on the other hand, is a typical seaside links, with short, crisp turf, great sand dunes and exposed to almost every wind that blows. The wind sometimes provides not the least severe tests at Deaf. There is an historic occasion when a player drove his first shot into the teeth of a gale, and had to play his second from behind the tee. Straightness is essential on both courses, but perhaps it is more important at St. George's Hill than it is at Deaf. If the player does not keep the correct line at the former place the jungle flanking the course will be completely diminished his chances of qualifying.

Neither Hagan nor Barnes has yet been seen in this country, so it is not surprising that British golfers rely on one of their own stalwarts to keep the championship in this country. The great triumvirate, which is the comprehensive name for Harry Vardon, James Braid and J. H. Taylor, seldom make any mistakes in keeping the correct line. What is more, they are past masters in the art of juggling with the wind. It is generally in this respect that the player who has been trained on the seaside course has the advantage over the inland golfer.

RARE SILHOUETTE OF ENGLAND
(By International News Service.)
LONDON, May 27.—The portrait of George Washington, Mrs. Washington and Mrs. John Jay, (Sarah Livingston) have been presented to Sulgrave Manor, the home of Washington's ancestors, and were formerly in the collection of Francis W. Wadsworth, of Oxford.

The portrait of George Washington is printed on glass and is by an unknown American artist. His wife's silhouette is gold tinted and that of Sarah Livingston is painted on pasteboard. The portraits are all in their original frames and are said to be of considerable value.

The Sulgrave Manor House is at present in process of partial restoration. It is expected that a large number of the Americans who will come to England this summer will visit the manor, and the work of restoration—together with the establishment of a hotel near the grounds—is being hurried forward in order to accommodate the anticipated rush.

BOSTON, May 27.—An assault upon Umpire Hildebrand by Pitcher Shawkey of New York in the fourth inning, resulting in Shawkey receiving a scalp wound from the umpire's mask, created excitement in the first game of the series with the Red Sox today, which New York won six to one. Babe Ruth made two home runs, sending the ball once into the right field bleachers and the second time over the left center field fence, this giving him a total of ten for the season.

New York players protested strongly when Hildebrand enabled Boston to take its only run in the fourth by sending Schang to first on balls with the bases full, forcing in a run. After Harper, next man up, had been called out on strikes, Shawkey approached the Umpire, bowed and doffed his cap in mock thanks. Hildebrand ordered Shawkey off the ground whereupon he rushed at the umpire and struck him several times about the head. Hildebrand defended himself with his mask and opened a wound on Shawkey's head. Umpire Evans and Captain Hooper of the Red Sox separated the men and Shawkey was conducted from the field, Mays finishing the game.

WOMEN ASK VOICE IN PARTY AFFAIRS
CHICAGO, May 27.—Women leaders here are conferring with committee men in an effort to draft a plan for participation of the newly enfranchised voters in the direction of the Republican party. The plan will be presented to the convention, it is understood, with the recommendation of Chairman Hayes and the national committee that it be adopted.

Some of the women are asking for a "fifty-fifty" voice in party affairs, and at the other extreme, some are said to be content with the present arrangement whereby an advisory committee of one representative from each state, with no voting power, sits with the national committee.

Captain Victor Heintz, regional director with headquarters here, has been selected by Chairman Hayes, to sound out the sentiment of the women and ask them to draft a proposal agreeable to the suffragists.

A request that a plank endorsing independence for the Philippines be incorporated in the convention platform will be made to the platform and policies committee by a special commission of Filipinos, Jose P. Melencio announced today. Melencio, Jaime C. de Veyra, resident Philippine commissioner at Washington, and Felipe Buencamino, representing Manuel Quezon, president of the Philippine senate, are members of the commission. They were appointed, Mr. Melencio said, because the Filipinos have no direct representation in the convention, both delegates from the Philippines being Americans.

"The principle of freedom for national groups as soon as they establish a stable government is a republican policy," Mr. Melencio said. "It was laid down by President Grant in his dealings with the South American countries and reasserted by President McKinley in Cuba. We ask that the Republican party now endorse freedom for the Philippines, as we have established a stable government."
